

- DESCRIPTION.

Structure made of curved profiles of hot-dip galvanized steel; very resistant to wet and outdoor spaces.

Due to its design, the sled-ground contact surface is total, making it stable and manageable during physical exercise.

It is more limited than the pro version in the fact of weight, however, it has a bracket to place weight discs with different sizes, and with a fastening at the front part to place the drag strip that will be attached to the waist.

It is a good complement for physical resistance training.
